

Split DC Vote On Broadmoor Plan

By NANCY STANCILL

The Daly City Council Monday authorized City Atty. Albert Polonsky to draw up a formal service contract proposal between the city and the Broadmoor Police Protection District.

However, the split 3-2 vote cast some doubt on chances of the proposed contract eventually winning council approval. The contract probably will be ready for council action in a few weeks.

Councilman Anthony Giammona and Victor Kyriakis, in a surprising development, voted against directing the city attorney to proceed with preparing the contract document.

In a preliminary contract proposal to the Broadmoor Police Commission, City Manager David Rowe had stated, "I have full expectation, at this time, that the City Council will approve . . . a contract."

About 20 Broadmoor residents who were present at the Monday meeting listened intently as Giammona said, "I want to speak against the proposal."

Giammona noted that Broadmoor residents "voted 3-1 in November to raise taxes to maintain their police department."

Giammona further said that although Broadmoor's police service has been administered since Jan. 1 by Daly City in a temporary contract, "Broadmoor residents have been unhappy."

Giammona noted that attempts have been made to obtain liability insurance so that the Broadmoor department again can function as an independent entity. He said, "Let them do it their way."

Kyriakis added that he had voted for the temporary contract when the Broadmoor Police Department's insurance was cancelled in December, "in a spirit of cooperation."

But, Kyriakis said, the council has "yet to have a clearcut indication by the people of Broadmoor what their desires are. We don't have a clear indication that they want to join us."

For that reason, Kyriakis said, "I can't support this."

Kyriakis' and Giammona's views were in sharp contrast to the opinion of Councilman William Schumacher, who said, "It is best for the City of Daly City to enter into this contract. It will relieve many problems for us."

Schumacher continued, "What we have before us is not annexation. It's a police service contract."

But, he added, "Annexation is perhaps not far behind."

He argued that Broadmoor presently is part of the Daly City community, that residents use city recreation, library, fire and police backup and senior citizen facilities.

Councilman McRobert Stewart noted that the council was only authorizing a further look at a formal contract, not voting for the proposal.

"I want to see a contract in writing," he said. "I'm

Angry JESD Teachers Protest Extra Days

Angry Jefferson Elementary School District teachers packed Monday night's meeting of the Board of Trustees, protesting having to work five additional days after the closing of school next month.

Twenty-three persons, 21 of them teachers, asked and were granted permission to speak to trustees at their Daly City meeting. Although their comments varied somewhat, all echoed the same theme: teachers don't want to work the week of June 20-24, one week after pupils have been dismissed for summer vacation.

There are 430 certified employees in the district, and about half of them are members of the Jefferson Classroom Teachers Association. The association, however, represents all teachers.

District trustees, who noted the calendar for the 1976-77 school year was adopted last June, contend teachers must work the five additional days to receive in-service training in preparation for next September.

Teachers, however, claim the five additional days disrupt their plans for the summer.

"We, the staff of Crocker School," said spokeswoman

Judy Darling, "feel that an additional five days of work at the end of this scheduled school year would be completely unnecessary."

"We feel that your consideration of this extra work can only be for reasons which are somehow whimsical and punitive and only a further indication of your disregard for the already deteriorated morale of this staff," she said.

She said the teachers at Crocker School will be burdened unnecessarily by working the five additional days.

"There will be two teachers unable to prepare for summer school teaching . . . two teachers unable to go on already paid vacations . . . one unable to visit her elderly parents . . . another will lose a $1,500 deposit on a trip to Africa . . . and, finally, several teachers will not be able to start course work and classes to further their education at state universities."

Several teachers said they inferred that the district is forcing teachers to work the additional five days to force a quick settlement in contract negotiations.

Jefferson District teachers have yet to reach a contract settlement for the 1976-77 school year. Each teacher attending Monday night's meeting wore a button saying: "10 Months and Still No Contract."

Bernice Kooll, a teacher at F. D. Roosevelt School, told trustees: "This decision to add a week to the work calendar was a vindictive and punitive one. It is unethical and demoralizing with no position or rational basis."

June Neuhaus, representing teachers at Daniel Webster School, added, "Forcing the teachers to work an additional five days is being appealed to the Educational Employment Relations Board and may result in an unbudgeted cost."

State Aide Bolsters Foster Parents

By BILL HURSCHMANN
An aide to Gov. Jerry Brown bolstered the spirits of the San Mateo County Foster Parents Association Monday by encouraging it to keep up with its efforts.

"Foster Parents is one of the greatest endeavors that we can contribute our time to," said Percy Pickney, special assistant to California's governor.

Pickney said he's familiar with the Foster Parents program, since he's a product of a foster home himself.

"I was assisted by a young Quaker family at the age of 12 after my mother and father had died," he told a group of about 150 persons meeting in the Veterans Memorial Building in Daly City. That city this year was host to the annual Foster Parents Association's "thank you" to the area.

"The role you folks play in society is extremely important," Pickney said. "For every young person you help, that's one more person you've taken off the streets. It's one more person you've helped keep out of institutions. It's one more person allowed the opportunity to play out an important role in our society."

Pickney, a resident of Daly City, said he asked to attend Monday's luncheon as a representative of the governor's staff because "I can come not only as a representative of the governor, but because I feel I can make some contribution to Daly City's program."

He said such programs "reach into the core of things and make some dent into things in life that people usually write off."

Pickney assured the group that Brown "is very familiar with your project right here. He's very sympathetic with the institution of foster care for children and recognizes its need in the community."

The luncheon, totally prepared by foster families, "is our way of getting acquainted and of thanking the community for the efforts made during the past year," said Mrs. Helen Moses, president of the Daly City chapter of the Association.

She said she hoped, by the end of the Monday luncheon program, to have served some 200 meals "to people who are most deserving."

A program being reactivated this year by the Association is its scholarship program, dormant for the past four years.

Mrs. Jessie Rieden, chairman of the scholarship committee, said donation will be used for college and trade school scholarships. Donations, she said, can be mailed to P.O. Box 246, Millbrae 94030.

There are approximately 75 foster families in the Daly City area alone and more than 350 such families throughout San Mateo County.

After eight terms as senior citizen president, she yields gavel.

DC Senior Citizens Leader Honored on 'Retirement'

Longtime Daly City community figure Virgel Davis has stepped down from the presidency of the Daly City Senior Citizens Club after eight terms.

Mrs. Davis was honored upon her "retirement" May 18 at the Lincoln Park Clubhouse.

Mrs. Davis has provided leadership among senior citizens on local and county levels.

Her abilities have been recognized by others to the extent of a special by-law change to allow her to serve eight terms as president for the Daly City Senior Citizens Club.

She was appointed to the San Mateo County Commission on Aging and recently completed a two-year elected term as North County director for the San Mateo County Senior Forum.

In Daly City, Mrs. Davis is a member of the Advisory Board for Mary's Help Hospital, League of Women Voters, Veterans of Foreign Wars Auxiliary and the Action Awareness Committee.

Her leadership in the area of senior citizens has been extensive, and Mrs. Davis was instrumental in developing a committee of cancer dressing volunteers from the Daly City Senior Citizens Club. Her efforts and support are well known in Daly City concerning senior housing and public transportation. Mrs. Davis has worked on the Housing Advisory Committee, and as a result, a senior housing development has been completed in Daly City.

As a volunteer to support Proposition A, she worked as a committee member to inform voters and encourage them to vote for better public transportation, to serve not only Daly City, but the entire county.

Her club activities have not been limited to the Daly City Senior Citizens. She was supportive and active in organizing a second club sponsored by the Daly City Recreation Department — the John Daly Senior Citizens Club.

Through her encouragement and assistance, a buffet luncheon was organized to launch the new club in June 1974. To date, the new club has more than 200 members. Mrs. Davis has represented Daly City as the chairwoman for three San Mateo County Senior Forum Information Days.

Her efforts include two legislative information days held in Daly City and one "Senior Day on Campus" at Skyline College.

Perhaps her varied interest in the entire community and energetic approach to life can best be exhibited by her volunteer work with the Information and Referral Center, and her support of the senior meals program and the children's day care activities.

Although Mrs. Davis has retired from office, she will remain an active member of both the Daly City Senior Citizens Club and the community.

DC Approves Water Rationing Ordinance

In a unanimous decision, Daly City's City Council Monday adopted an emergency water rationing ordinance which allocates 225 gallons a day per single-family residence.

The ordinance, the subject of discussion and revision for two months, becomes effective immediately.

The council had objected to an earlier proposal which had called for a straight 25 per cent reduction in water usage over a customer's previous year's average use.

Council members hailed the 225 gallons a day per home plan as a workable hybrid between a percentage plan and a per-person proposal.

"It's so workable it isn't funny," gloated City Atty. Albert Polonsky. Polonsky had been concerned that a per-person gallonage allocation plan would require a costly census.

Few residents spoke during the Monday night public hearing, since most had

Mainline Take over Date Set

North-south "Mainline" commute bus service will begin Saturday, July 2, General Manager John T. Mauro told the San Mateo County Transit Board of Directors last week.

The plan, approved recently by the state Public Utilities Commission, includes 296 daily trips along El Camino Real, Bayshore Freeway and Old Bayshore between Palo Alto and San Francisco. SanTrans has contracted with Greyhound Lines for the service, which includes destinations such as San Francisco International Airport and the United Airlines Maintenance Base there, the Daly City BART station and downtown San Francisco.

Letters detailing specifics of the Mainline system will be distributed early next month on Greyhound commute buses and posted in terminals, Mauro said, and timetables for every part of the service will be circulated shortly after that.

July 2 also is the date for SanTrans assumption of Greyhound routes on the Coastside, Mauro announced. Scheduled runs will be between Half Moon Bay and the Daly City BART station during the week and directly to downtown San Francisco on weekends, when BART doesn't operate.

Audit Delegation Selected for DC Child-Care Unit

Daly City Mayor Albert Teglia and Councilman Anthony Giammona and two San Mateo county representatives will hear the results of a fiscal audit and program review of the Daly City Community for Children's Services.

The subcommittee tentatively will meet the first week of June to discuss whether the controversial day care center should continue to be funded with city and state monies.

The Rev. Raymond Howard, president of the DCCCS corporation board and the central figure in its often-criticized management policies, appeared before the City Council Monday night to object to media attention surrounding the upcoming audit report. The audit results have not been released.

The Reverend Howard was told by council members to save his comments for the future hearing.

The council also appointed a second special subcommittee of Councilmen William Schumacher and Victor Kyriakis to study and recommend whether Daly City should participate in PRISM, the county's proposed police data computer service.

In other business, the council:

- Approved unanimously on second reading an ordinance setting up the procedures to establish preferential parking privileges for residents who live near BART and in other congested areas.

- Gave the green light for the second reading of an ordinance which will increase council members' salaries by $16.87 per month — a 5 per cent hike.

- Agreed with a City Personnel Board recommendation to allow lateral transfers for certain types of police personnel.

- Appointed resident Beatrice Jackson as the first woman to the Daly City Planning Commission after three votes involving four different candidates.

- Unanimously approved plans and specifications for a 250 watt high pressure sodium lighting for Mission Street.

- Approved the appointment of Mayor Teglia to the San Mateo County Development Association Board of Directors.

- Requested that Councilmen Kyriakis and McRobert Stewart meet with Bayshore area residents to discuss a number of traffic problems the residents are having in connection with Cow Palace crowds.

Retirement Aides Ask More Tobias Info

By BILL HURSCHMANN

The Jefferson Elementary School District has been asked to dig into its records for more information about the duties of Marjorie Tobias.

According to Leighton Case, assistant chief executive officer for the State Teachers' Retirement System (STRS), "If their material supports the independent theory, we'll drop the issue. If not, we'll go to a hearing."

Miss Tobias, a district teacher and principal, retired for the past two years, has served as an "educational consultant" for the district, at $100 per day.

The STRS, however, charges Miss Tobias has earned almost $20,000 from the district during those two years, and that she also has received her $19,000 a year full pension. STRS contends state law allows a retired certificated employee only $3,000 a year income from a district while continuing to be eligible for a pension. The district, however, says Miss Tobias is an independent contractor and, as such, is entitled to both her pension and consultant fees.

Following a meeting between the STRS and the district late last week in Sacramento, Case said, "The board members that we must with believe the records and the information in the district are in pretty bad shape because of administrative changes the district has had in recent years.

"The district says we haven't received all the accurate information on Marge Tobias' duties in the district. They feel they can make a case on the fact that she is an independent contractor, and our information says she is an employee of the district.

"The district has indicated it will gather more information and get back in touch with us," Case said.

Case said he hopes the district will obtain the information this week.

"If they can find records indicating much of the work she did was as an independent contractor, or if we determine that is the case, then there will be no problem," he said.

"But they may have a damn hard time extracting this kind of information."

Case said, "If the district doesn't satisfy us that it was an independent contractor, then we are saying Miss Tobias should have been reinstated in the retirement system in October 1975, which means that all retirement payments since that time were improper.

"However, before we would cut off any payments to her, we would go to a hearing before the Office of Administrative Procedures, state Department of General Services, and let a hearing officer determine who is right."

Case said "As soon as they get it to us, we'll give it a top priority and review it immediately."

The assistant executive officer added: "What I really regret about this whole matter is the way Miss Tobias is getting bounced around. She's like a pawn in this."

"I have a lot of respect for her accomplishments, and this whole matter has had a devastating effect on her. I just hope we can bring it to a solution as fast as possible."

San Bruno Puts Elected Treasurer on Ballot

By JANET PARKER

San Bruno City Manager Gerald Minford is recommending that the elective position of city treasurer be eliminated.

Minford's suggestion came in the wake of the recent death of Martin Krumm, who had been treasurer 20 years.

Krumm's widow, Ruth, has appointed a deputy city treasurer by the City Council Monday night, since she already is bonded and able to serve in the position.

The council also slated a Nov. 8 special election to permanently fill the vacant term which expires in March 1980.

But, no decision was made on the proposed abolition of the elected treasurer's position. Even if the council desires to discontinue election of a city treasurer, it only can place the matter on a ballot for a vote of residents.

It was the second time this month that a recommendation to abolish the position of treasurer, with other staff members absorbing the duties, has been before the City Council.

Earlier, the Economy and Efficiency Task Force, appointed by the council, recommended the elimination of two elective positions — city treasurer and city clerk.

"The annual cost of $9,000 for the position of city treasurer is no longer a justified expense," Minford said in a letter to the council.

The manager said existing procedures provide adequate safeguards to assure proper handling of city funds, "except in a few instances."

Where further safeguards are needed, he said, the council can require two signatures, one of which would be of an elected official, either the city clerk or the mayor.

Another possible alternative, he said, would be consolidation of the city clerk and city treasurer positions.

"My primary concern as a city manager is to have the ability to have a guaranteed procedure for getting the day-to-day recording tasks accomplished in a timely fashion and that it be done accurately," he said.

San Bruno, he said, normally is investing about $3 million. The necessity for rapid turnover of these funds and the need to have all funds invested at all times can't be controlled when it's the responsibility of an elected official, he added.

He pointed out that Krumm was a competent and skillful public accountant. But there is no assurance that his successor will have any financial background if elected.

"I have seen too many instances where the elected city treasurer has been totally incompetent in the handling of city financial affairs," Minford said, referring to other communities.

If the elected position were eliminated, he stated, the council would be left to appoint a qualified person or transfer the treasurer's duties to the director of finance.

If day-to-day tasks were handled by the director of finance, the elected city clerk could still sign essential documents, he said.

Councilman Tony Governale objected to Minford's recommendation.

"I feel anytime we as a body remove from the electorate an opportunity for them to make a direct choice... we're taking away from them part of the democratic process," Governale said.

The next step, he said, could be elimination of the city clerk and, as an extreme example, perhaps the City Council itself. The city might end up with government run by competent appointed persons, but none of them elected.

He noted that, "Dictatorships probably are the most efficient form of government there is."

Councilwoman Marge Kozkowski agreed with Governale. Councilman Dick Griffith said the council doesn't even have to make the decision — just simply place the matter on a ballot.

Councilman John Barnard supported Minford's proposal. The treasurer, he said, should be financially competent. But most accountants, he said, are poor politicians, unable to run a good campaign for election.

He added that he didn't want an appointed treasurer, either. The position, he said, should be entirely eliminated.

"We haven't done that great of a job in appointing people," he said.

City Atty. Joseph Galligan, however, said that someone in the city has to be appointed to carry out the duties of the treasurer by state law. Barnard was unwilling to accept the idea of any kind of appointment and dropped his motion to abolish the job.

The council informally decided to determine later if it will place the matter on a ballot.

Governale and Barnard are scheduled to meet with the Task Force on June 7 to, among other things, obtain the justification for their recommendation that the position be abolished.

Council members this week received a letter from Belmont City Clerk James McLaughlin who has been watching the San Bruno discussions.

McLaughlin, director of the California State Association of Local Elected Officials, noted that city treasurers and city clerks are government officials protected under the state constitution and they cannot be "phased out."

He also said that the duties cannot be handed over to the city manager, finance director or anyone else whose appointment is entirely the option of each succeeding council.

The Task Force, he said, "is totally ignorant of the fact that the city clerk and city treasurer are government officials created under the state constitution, as are council members, and that they are so in every state of this nation."

"God help democracy if all the city councils, boards of supervisors and state legislators were not wise enough to realize the importance of retaining decentralized representation in the most important offices of city, county and state government," McLaughlin said.

Council Defends Efficiency Task Force

A letter critical of the San Bruno Economy and Efficiency Task Force and asking that it be eliminated, prompted most of the City Council to defend the committee Monday night.

While council members said they still want a detailed report from the Task Force, several said that the body is composed of competent, well-qualified residents who should be permitted to continue their assignment.

In recent months, Mayor Gary Mondfrans has suggested that the Task Force has not been doing its job and that it should be abandoned.

The council, however, recently extended the life of the committee for one year after receiving a two-page summary of its work over the past year.

In a letter, San Bruno resident, Raymond Schenone, called the report "vague recommendations, unsupported by facts."

"One can only assume they were prompted into action by the newspaper articles attesting to the fact they did not submit a report to the San Bruno City Council in the one year of their existence," he wrote.

At the same time, he praised the city clerk — one of the positions that the Task Force recommended be eliminated.

Councilman John Barnard called the Task Force "one of the best committees — qualified-wise — this city has ever had." The background of the members, he said, is outstanding.

Councilwoman Marge Kozkowski said that the report was a "hurry-up kind of thing" because the council had set a deadline.

Mondfrans said the composition of the Task Force indeed makes it a "blue-ribbon panel." But the report to the council "is not what I hoped to achieve."

He noted that there are several college professors on the panel, but the report as submitted doesn't reflect that kind of background.

Man Questioned In Hostage Case

An alleged accomplice of a man who held two South San Francisco residents hostage for 13 hours on March 16 has been held to answer in San Mateo County Superior Court to two charges of armed robbery.

Robert Galberth 22, of Grants Pass, Ore., was one of three men who allegedly robbed the Hillside Pharmacy in Brisbane before the hostage incident occurred.

Galberth and Larry Crawford were apprehended in South San Francisco shortly after the armed robbery. The third man, Michael Guile, captured the attention of state and national news when he held Mr. and Mrs. Antonia Jolola and a 19-month-old boy in a nearby apartment until the next morning.

The incident ended when Guile, 31, died of a self-inflicted gunshot wound.

North County Municipal Court Judge F. J. deLarios determined after a preliminary hearing Monday that Galberth shall stand trial in Superior Court. Arraignment is set at 9 a.m. May 27 and he is free on $2,000 bail.

Assistant Dist. Atty. Cliff Cretan said an additional charge, assaulting an officer with a deadly weapon, was dropped.

Man Found Dead In DC Apartment

A 40-year-old Daly City man was found shot to death in the living room of his residence just before midnight Sunday, Daly City police report.

Police said the identity of the deceased is being withheld pending notification of next of kin.

Daly City police said San Francisco police had been called to assist Sandra Weary, 502 Schwerin Ave., gain entry into her residence. The two San Francisco policemen found the dead man's body in the living room.

Police said the dead man apparently was Miss Weary's roommate. They said he died from a single gunshot wound to the head.

Officer Duane Bolton and Det. Bob Vogt are investi-

Members of the San Mateo-Burlingame Chess Club will challenge Bilyas, but others are welcome, too.

Water

expressed opinions at earlier council meetings.

City Manager David Rowe explained the basic tenets of the rationing plan as follows:

- Each single-family home would be allocated 1,800 cubic feet per bi-monthly billing period (225 gallons per day per home.)
- Some 64 per cent of city households are already below that usage figure.
- Application (under declaration of penalty and perjury) may be made for an additional 240 cubic feet bi-monthly for each person beyond a four-member household.

• Excess water usage will be penalized by at these higher rates — between 1,800 and 2,000 cubic feet, $1 per extra 100 cubic feet; between 2,000 and 2,500, $3 per 100; and above 2,500, $6 per 100. The authorized supplement a larger household receives is not penalized.

• Flow restriction devices or water cut-off will result from usage of more than 3,600 cubic feet.

• Multi-unit buildings will be allowed 1,200 cubic feet per unit, with similar graduated cost penalties.

• Commercial and municipal users will be allocated 75 per cent of the previous year's average use.

• Irrigation and outside water use will be cut to 50 per cent of last year's usage.

• Industrial users must show a 25 per cent reduction, or a 10 per cent reduction in the use of processed water.

• A conservation discount of $1 per billing will be given to households which use less than 600 cubic feet.

The council commended Daly City residents whose conservation efforts have resulted in a 46 per cent cutback over last year's water use. The 46 per cent decrease was noted during the last two weeks by City Engineer David Macabee.

Daly City gets almost half of its water supply from San Francisco's Hetch Hetchy system and the rest from municipal wells.

Broadmoor

not partial to Broadmoor or Daly City."

About 10 persons, mostly Broadmoor residents, spoke against the proposed contract, which would be a seven-to-10-year agreement costing Broadmoor residents about $206,700 the first year.

Daly City resident Conrad Pavellas said he admired "the American spirit of independence" shown by the Broadmoor residents who want to maintain the separate department for the unincorporated area.

He noted that although two of the three-member Police Commission voted for a Daly City contract, the two (John McCloskey and Dean Davenport) might be voted out of office within the next year.

There was a hearty round of applause from some Broadmoor residents at this suggestion.

Attorney Wayne MacFadden, who said he was speaking on behalf of four Broadmoor women, told the council that considerable litigation will result if the council approves a Broadmoor contract.

Mike Handlin of Broadmoor said those opposed to a Daly City contract have been petitioning residents for about 10 days.

"We already have close to 800 signatures out of 2,000 possible voters," said Handlin.

The petition notes in part, "Total opposition to the contract proposal with Daly City for future police services... total opposition to Police Commissioners McCloskey's and Davenport's attempt to defeat the vote by the people in the November 1976 election for 'Prop U' — higher taxes to maintain our local Police Department."

Two of the Broadmoor Police Commissioners, Davenport and Wayne Johnson, also addressed the council.

Davenport requested that council approve the proposed contract agreement.

Johnson, the lone vote against a Daly City contract, called such a proposal "a sham and a farce to the residents and taxpayers of the Broadmoor Police District."

Manuel Medina, another Broadmoor resident, had a sharp retort.

Students of Gilbert Toiben have placed their work in a show in the community room at the Serramonte Library.

The show consists of 50 pictures which vary from portraits to landscapes, and from abstract works to romantic scenes. Many of the works were produced by Toiben's students at Skyline College, while others illustrate the artistry of students at Jefferson High School, where Toiben has taught for many years.

The photography show may be seen daily from 10 a.m. to 9 p.m. Monday through Thursday, and from 10 a.m. to 5 p.m. on Fridays and Saturdays.

Fingers Tell The Stories At Library

Two unique methods of communicating with children — through sign language and through bilingual stories — will be demonstrated during the weekly pre-school story hours at the Serramonte Branch of the Daly City Public Library.

Penny Miller, who has a deaf child herself, will present stories simultaneously in sign language and in spoken work on May 25. Virginia Furrer will tell stories in Spanish and English on June 1.

The storytelling sessions, which last from 10:15 to 11 a.m., are part of a complete children's program at Serramonte Library. All children from ages 3 to 5 are invited to attend.

New Hours

Frontier Village begins its summer season May 28, with the amusement park opening for daily operations 10 a.m. to 5 p.m.

JUNIOR ACHIEVEMENT WINNERS

Six Westmoor High School students recently won top awards in the Bay area division of Junior Achievement. Honored at a recent banquet and presented to the Jefferson Union High School District Board of Trustees were (left) Liz Bonal, Mike Rodriguez, John Sanders, Kathy Bonal, Bruce Parker and Tony Merjano. Sanders, Merjano and Miss Bonal also will attend the upcoming national convention at Bloomington, Ind.

AAUW Scholarships Go to Six

The San Mateo Branch of the American Association of University Women awarded scholarships to six women from the College of San Mateo at an annual luncheon last week at the Villa Hotel.

The grant recipients, all of whom will continue studies at major universities, were selected by the AAUW scholarships committee after extensive review of their written application and a personal interview.

This year, two additional scholarships were awarded in memory of Harriet Denham, whose family made a grant to the scholarships fund in her name. Mrs. Denham served as president of the San Mateo Branch in 1960-61 and was particularly interested in helping young people further their education.

The recipients are:

LINDA AMES — A Belmont resident who will major in physiology at the University of California at Davis. Has maintained a 3.7 average at CSM.

SUSAN DUGONI — A Burlingame resident who will also attend UC Davis,

Betty Jean Linquist

Susan Dugoni

where she will major in biology. Aspires to become a doctor and has maintained a perfect 4.0 average both in high school (Mercy) and at CSM.

BETTY JANE LINQUIST — Also plans to attend UC Davis where she will major in veterinary medicine. Has a 3.84 grade point average and wants to be a missionary in Africa when she has completed her schooling. Lives in San Mateo.

MARY THAYER — Another San Mateo resident. Will attend San Francisco State University where she aspires to become a dietitian. Has maintained a 3.33 average.

The Harriet Oliver Denham Scholarship recipients are:

DOREEN ANZALONE — A Daly City resident who plans to major in criminal justice at San Jose State University. Has a 3.71 grade point average and intends to become a juvenile probation officer.

REBECCA NIELSON — Will matriculate at the University of California at Berkeley where she will major in forestry. Her goal is to become a genetic horticulturalist. Lives in Redwood City and has maintained a 3.19 average at CSM.

AAUW was originated in Boston in 1882 by 65 women who had graduated from a college or university. There purpose was, as it is today, to expand opportunities for women so that they might choose careers and lifestyles beyond the usual stereotypes.

AAUW now has more than 190,000 members and more than 1,820 local branches. In awarding these six scholarships, the San Mateo Branch continues a national commitment made almost 100 years ago.

Serving on the scholarships selection committee were Mrs. Nicholas Amantango of San Mateo, chairman, and Mesdames Philip Banda, Allan Goldwater, A.A. Kaplan and Glenn Nelson.

New Chief at SF Airport

Arkansas Director of Finance Administration Richard R. Heath, 48, a man without airport management experience, has been hired to direct San Francisco International Airport.

The announcement came last week from William "Bill" Dwyer, the airport's current boss.

Dwyer has passed San Francisco's age for mandatory retirement, and will be leaving his $48,000-a-year job June 30.

Heath is paid $35,000 a year as Arkansas' most powerful nonelected official.

He is described by newsmen in Little Rock as "smooth" in dealing with politicians, especially the legislature, but not so smooth as he used to be.

"He is very easy, open and candid with news people, and has had a policy of openness in state government ever since he was appointed by Governor Dale Bumpers five years ago," the newsmen said.

Heath wears an eye patch as the result of a cancer operation necessitating the removal of an eye.

It has been suggested that Heath's environmental leanings, his law background in San Francisco some years ago or his Peace Corps attachments may have had something to do with his appointment.

Heath was named director of airports at a Thursday executive session of the San Francisco Airports Commission by a 3-2 vote.

Voting against Heath's appointment were commission President William E. McDonnell, a long-time supporter of airport expansion, and William H. Chester.

Casting votes for Heath were William Coblenz, Morris Bernstein and Ruth S. Kadish.

City Hall insiders said the commission had chosen Airport Deputy Director M.F. "Mike" Bagan for Dwyer's post, but that Mayor George Moscone insisted on Heath.

McDonnell is reported to have said he will resign his position in protest. He will serve the 17 months remaining in his appointed term, however.

Chester reportedly said he also would give up his commission post as vice president, but would serve out his term on the board.

According to Dwyer, Heath at one time served three years in the Air Force.

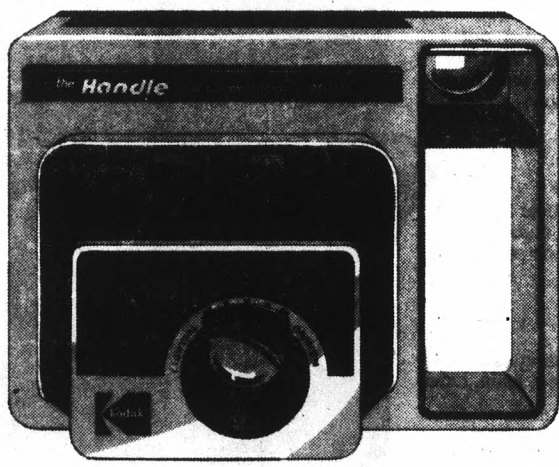

Heath's official biography reports those three years were spent as a pilot, but does not say when or where.

He is reported to have been in private law practice with the firm of Neyhart and Grodin in San Francisco from 1958 to 1966, when he joined the Peace Corps for six years.

Heath is now a member of the Multi-State Tax Commission, a body organized to equalize taxation differences between several states in the mid-United States.

Student Jobless Bill OK'd

An effort to reverse a state Unemployment Insurance Appeals Board ruling which allows college students who refuse to work to collect unemployment insurance benefits gathered momentum last week as the Assembly passed a bill by a vote of 54 to 17.

The bill, A.B. 28, authored by Assemblyman Dixon Arnett, R-Redwood City, would make students who place "unreasonable restrictions" on their work availability ineligible for unemployment compensation.

Arnett introduced the measure last year after the board ruled 3-2 that college students were eligible for unemployment benefits even though they reject jobs which might interfere with their class schedules. Arnett said that without his bill, thousands of students could become eligible for up to $104 per week in jobless benefits while attending classes.

Korean Situation as Seen by Peninsulan

By LIN DAY
A Burlingame journalist, decorated with the Silver Star as a war correspondent in the Korean War, returned home recently after revisiting Korea and Japan for the first time since the days of MacArthur and the epic battles of the early 1950's.
Frank Riley of Hillsborough, who owns and operates Riley Communications Services in Burlingame, a public relations firm, found Korea had changed tremendously in a quarter century, but that one change had not come. Despite 25 years of truce, American soldiers, as well as South Korean troops, are alert for attack at any moment, he learned. And while South Korea remains in a military lull, North Korea has been building its forces steadily in the last few years, he was informed — particularly in expanding its tank and air forces. He quoted U.S. Army General John W. Vessey, United Nations commanding general in Korea, as telling a briefing of correspondents on a tour that "the probability of Kim Il-Sung's moving is high enough to keep me nervous and to keep my forces constantly prepared for it." However, Riley learned, Vessey is more concerned about the son of North Korean Premier Kim, who is the "heir apparent," taking over and starting another war than he is about Kim, now 65, even though it was Kim who began the original Korean conflict back in 1950.

Intelligence sources revealed to the correspondents that North Korea has tripled its tank forces since 1970 and has increased its combat air force by one-third.

Despite this, Riley said, both Americans and Koreans feel they could hold Seoul, only three minutes from the nearest North Korean military airfield, and 20 miles from the demilitarized zone. However, South Korean Prime Minister Choi Kyu Ha told Riley that "we have studied the feasibility of moving the capital south."

That might not be easy to do, Riley learned. Seoul, a pile of rubble in 1952 today is a modern, sophisticated city with dozens of high-rise buildings and more going up in an expanding, prosperous Korean industrial economy that is tapping world markets.

Residents of Seoul and the countryside, appearing desperate and desolate in 1952, today are happy, prosperous, well-dressed, complacent in their military, and through economic prosperity, have a new sense of unity and national purpose, he said.

More ominous, he learned, is the fact that two large tunnels were discovered under the mountains entering South Korea from the north, and that possibly nine more were built, apparently to enable entry of North Korean troops in remote areas. One tunnel was 148 feet below ground.

American Ambassador Richard L. Sneider, when asked by Riley what had happened to U.S. intelligence in Korea, confided that "it is way behind the times."

When he came to the area two and a half years ago, Sneider told Riley, "they had half of one man studying North Korean intelligence operations. (That's one man devoting half his time to it.)"

"I made a trip to Washington to complain. Now they have a full staff."

In a trip to the Demilitarized Zone, Riley observed several tank traps. The biggest change, he found, was that the dirt road had become a modern, four-lane highway. The countryside again was beautiful.

At the DMZ, the correspondents found a dividing line running not only between the conference buildings where the truce teams meet, but right through the buildings and down the middle of a conference table. Riley stepped over the line briefly so

KOREAN MEMORIAL TO WAR CORRESPONDENTS

Some of 70 ex-war correspondents revisiting Korea look at permanent memorial to their fallen comrades of the Korean War during recent dedication ceremonies. Eighteen who were killed getting the news are named on the base.

he could say he had been in North Korea.

"I walked around the table," he said.

He looked at the controversial tree, now just a stump, where two American officers were slain by North Koreans a year ago when they went to cut it down because it blocked the view of military operations on the other side of the line from the UN observation post.

Vessey told Riley that both Russia and Communist China are trying to keep Kim from "engaging in adventurism." Choi said both are competing in wooing North Korea to join them.

Riley, a correspondent for the Kansas City Star in the war (and still the Star's West Coast correspondent today), and at one time a military public information officer, was the only California ex-correspondent on the trip, although an ex-combat photographer, Ed Hoffman of San Francisco, was along.

The trip was sponsored by the Committee for Revisit of Korean War Correspondents, specifically directed toward the unveiling of a monument for war-dead correspondents.

The Seoul-based committee represented Korean newspapers, news agencies, newspaper editors, the Journalists' Society of Korea and the International Cultural Society of Korea.

The monument commemorated the "noble sacrifices" of 18 deceased correspondents — 10 from the United States, four from Great Britain, two from France, one from the Philippines and one Korean.

Seventy correspondents from 19 countries made the trip, including one woman, Grace Halls of Washington, D.C. Missing were some of the greats of the war-time coverage, like the late Margaret Bourke White and Maggie Higgins.

"But many of us were old friends," Riley said. "It was just that, as one said, 'the faces are the same but the bellies are fatter and the heads are baldier.'"

Les Ketting was master of ceremonies for the pageant, and the Pat Bartholomew Dancers provided entertainment.

San Mateo Faces Charges

A young San Mateo man was arrested last week in Burlingame on charges of committing burglary while armed, and violating traffic laws. Mark A. Carnevale, 20, 1610 Noe St., was held under $10,160 bail. He was to be arraigned in Central District Municipal Court. Police said Carnevale was arrested after residents of a Paloma Avenue apartment house discovered someone in their apartment in midday.

Arnett Asks Initiative To Cut Taxes

An initiative proposition that could result in a 20 per cent cut in all property tax bills and make it more difficult to raise any local or state tax was proposed by Assemblyman Dixon Arnett, R-Redwood City.

Arnett urged official and volunteer leaders of the California Republican party to consider launching an initiative drive to place a tax-cut measure on the November 1978 ballot.

Speaking at a press conference in Sacramento, Arnett alleged that "Democrat-sponsored tax-shift proposals are nothing more than political aspirin tablets — they might bring a little relief, but they won't cure anything."

Arnett's proposed constitutional amendment would:

- Require all property to be assessed at 20 per cent of fair market value instead of the present 25 per cent.
- Require approval by two-thirds of any tax-imposing body, including the state legislature, to increase any tax. A simple majority is now required.

The ballot measure, Arnett contended, "would provide permanent protection to every California taxpayer — property taxpayers, income taxpayers and consumers who pay sales taxes."

Arnett said 500,000 valid signatures would be required to put his measure, which he calls Control Unlimited Taxation (CUT), on the November 1978 ballot.

Arnett said he would present his proposal to the Republican Central Committee at its September convention in San Diego.

Diet Incentive

Some people simply have no respect for law and order. And Daly City firemen know there's at least one person in their community that fits that bill.

Just after 8 p.m., last Tuesday, firemen from the station at 444 Gellert Ave. responded to an alarm from the Crown Colony apartments.

It turned out to be a false alarm.

But when the company returned, they discovered a thief had made off with the firemen's food fund.

Approximately $75 was taken from the fund which firemen contribute to weekly to buy their food supply.

DC Hall Marks 10th Year

By NANCY STANCILL
Daly City's Civic Center was 10 years old Friday.

Ten years ago, the mammoth, $2.5 million city structure was dedicated in gala ceremonies.

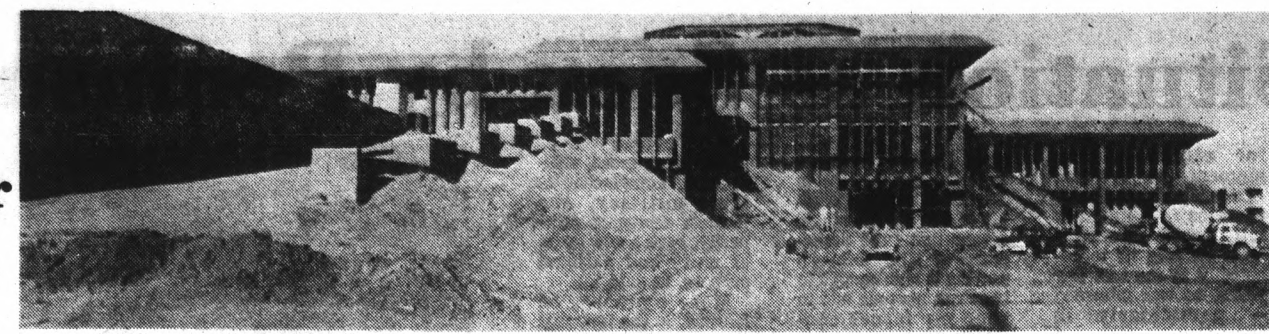

Hundreds came to marvel at the new City Hall, an ultra-modern, neo-classical building consisting of three connected square structures of reinforced concrete columns.

Daly City had never seen anything like it.

There was no commemoration of the anniversary. It was business as usual for the 220 city employees who work in the building.

But several city residents paused to remember what it was like 10 years ago.

"It was like a miracle,"

OPPONENTS OF THE CITY HALL NICKNAMED IT "THE TAJ MAHAL"

But most of those who originally opposed it have developed a fondness for it, a fan notes.

said Betty Buckley, deputy city clerk and 15-year employee of Daly City.

"It was very difficult to work out of the old building," she said, referring to the former City Hall on Wellington Street. The building now houses the Guadalupe Health Center.

City Clerk Anna Ohlen-dorf agreed: "My private office now is about the size of the entire clerk's office at the old City Hall. 'You could barely turn around.'"

The city clerk recalls that she moved into her new offices April 23, about a month before the building was dedicated. She lugged books and records and worked hard to get the place in shape for public viewing.

"I lost eight pounds," she said. "But it was a labor of love."

Frank Pacelli, a former councilman, remembers the frantic days when he served on a committee which planned the center.

"At first we were a little dubious about the exposed aggregate design of it," he said, "but we grew to like it and it won an award for us."

Pacelli still thinks the center, designed by Donald Francis Haines-Zaven Tatarian and Associates and constructed by Guy F. Atkinson, is distinctive.

"The areas where people are serviced are all on the first floor. It looks like a City Hall," he said with pride. "I think the people got their money's worth."

But not all was sweetness and light when the building was constructed.

Conrad Pavellas, president of the Original Daly City Protective Association, recalls that people were somewhat miffed that the City Hall was being moved from the old area of the city.

Also, Pavellas notes, it was considered "somewhat of an extravagance" among long-time residents.

The civic center is still nicknamed the "Taj Mahal" by some residents who complain about a flamboyant profile.

"It rather resembles the Taj Mahal," said Pavellas. "It's sort of dome-shaped."

But Pavellas said he believes most city residents who opposed it in the beginning have developed a fondness for it.

"It's a beautiful City Hall, but it took some time to get used to it," he said. Rowe said the building's strong point is its practicality. Because its interior is a combination of aggregate and panelling, it never needs painting.

And though its ground and second story areas are filled up, the city can fall back on 15,000 square feet in the basement to meet future space needs.

The building, constructed on a lease-purchase program, is half paid for. Payments are about $200,000 a year.

How long will the Civic Center last? "I hope it lasts forever," Rowe smiled.

Guild Members Off to Races!

The ladies of the Mary's Help Hospital Guild are off to the races today, in the spirit of fun and charity.

Mrs. Howard Poblitz, Mrs. Frank Falconi and Mrs. Frank Larson are co-chairing the trip to Golden Gate Fields, as the club repeats the popular spring fund-raising event again this year.

Friends and relatives have been invited to join in the fun and board the bus at 11:15 o'clock this morning for the East Bay. The group will arrive at the track just in time to enjoy lunch in the Terrace Room of the Turf Club and then watch the races.

THE FRIENDS of the Daly City Library will celebrate another successful year tomorrow as the membership gathers for the annual meeting and to enjoy a program by Leslie Crockett and Kathy Dugan of the San Francisco Ballet Company and School.

Mrs. Lorraine Sandeful is in charge of the program and she has announced an exciting evening of ballet with Leslie Crockett, administrator of the San Francisco Ballet School discussing the school and with Miss Dugan, and members of the school's highest class demonstrating.

Louanne Heath

Miss Crockett, whose parents danced with the San Francisco Ballet Co., has danced since she was seven years old, appearing with the San Francisco company, with Alan Howard's Pacific Ballet and on Broadway in musical comedy.

The gathering will begin at 7:30 p.m. in the Community room of the Serramonte Library with a brief business meeting, the election of new officers and with the presentation of gifts. An arts and crafts display will be presented by talented members of the club who are willing to share their creations with the group on this special occasion.

The public is always welcome, according to Mrs. Virginia Tierney, who emphasized that no reservations or special arrangements are necessary for those wishing to take this opportunity to visit a Friends of the Library function.

GIRL SCOUT leaders will gather tomorrow at noon in the La Concha restaurant to honor those who give above and beyond the call to make the local association a dynamic force for young women in this area.

Mrs. Joan Stewart, Mrs. Roz Morino and Mrs. Caroline Futrell have been planning the luncheon and Mrs. Virginia Nowicki, Mrs. Margaret Connolly, Mrs. Morino, Mrs. Futrell and Mrs. Mary-Ann Dale have been working on the awards and recognition committee.

PORK KABOBS FLORENTINE

Two lbs. pork kabobs, cut in 1/2 to 3/4-inch cubes. 2 pks. 8-oz. frozen spinach chopped. 2 cups sliced carrots, thin slices. 1/2 cup flour. 2 tsp. salt. 1/2 tsp. pepper. 3 tbs. cooking oil. 1 1/2 cups milk or half & half. 3 tbs. parmesan cheese & 1/2 tsp. celery seed.

Defrost and drain spinach; cook and drain carrots, combine flour, 1 tsp. salt and the pepper; dredge pork kabobs reserving any remaining flour. Lightly brown kabobs in cooking oil, and remove from pan. Pour off all but two tbs. of the drippings and stir in remaining flour to blend. Gradually add milk or half & half and cook stirring constantly until thickened. Stir in parmesan cheese and 1 tsp. salt and celery seed. Fold in spinach & carrots and place in 1 1/2 by 8-inch baking dish. Place kabobs on top of vegetable mixture, cover securely with foil and bake in 350-degree oven 45 minutes. Uncover and bake 15 minutes longer or until kabobs are done.

Where shall I live when I retire?

Somewhere, writes Morrie Morrison, where the climate will suit you, where the environment is not so strange that you can't handle it and where you can keep busy.

Morrison writes, "Keep active is the best single recommendation... a man can't buy happiness — he must earn it. And a good start for the retired person is to formulate some kind of work program, because it acquaints him with people and problems — two things he grew up with."

Morrison observes that when a retired person paces the floor what he is missing is talking shop and being occupied with the affairs of the business, industry or profession with which he is familiar. To be happy in retirement, therefore, Morrison writes, one must choose to live in a place where he can find some responsibility to occupy his time and where he can find people with whom he can be friends and where he can find an environment that suits him.

With these things in mind Morrison has produced a book to help retirees who wish to live in the West. "Retirement In The West" (Chronicle Books, 1976) has as a subtitle, "How and Where to Enjoy the Best Years Of Your Life."

One by one it takes the sections of the Pacific and Rocky Mountain states and points to what kind of life one may hope to lead there.

Writing of California, he advises that because California has many sections, ranging from mountains and valleys to swamps and deserts and sea coasts, they should study several factors before deciding to settle in a particular place. Among these are the climate, the geography, the size of the towns, the cultural and recreational facilities and the economic picture.

Morrison advises retirees to study a California history book because retired persons are looking for some of the same things the first settlers of California sought.

He writes that California is dotted with hundreds of nice communities that are lovely residential towns which offer excellent opportunities for self-sufficient, rewarding kind of retired life style. To find the one that is right for you, you must visit the local chambers of commerce, and read the local newspapers.

Morrison's discussion of California reads like a travelogue and a gazette combined.

To the couple that is considering retiring in Oregon, Morrison writes, "A wonderful vacation tour for prospective retirees... is to drive along Highway 101 from San Francisco to Astoria and then across the Columbia River into Washington. Such a trip can include visits to such places as Portland, Ashland, Salem, Klamath Falls, Pendleton, Bend and Eugene."

Of Nevada, Morrison writes that all of its citizens except 180,000 live in either Reno or Las Vegas. Retired people who choose other areas should be sure that they will not be lonesome in Nevada.

BALLET THE THEME

Ballet will be the program theme at the Friends of the Daly City Library's annual meeting Thursday, 7:30 p.m., in the community room at Serramonte Library. Leslie Crockett, administrator of the San Francisco Ballet School, will discuss the school, which trains ballet dancers towards becoming professionals. Kathy Dugan of the school's highest class will demonstrate. Shown here are Evelyn Cisneras and Don Schwenne-son in one of the school's demonstration performances last summer. Art and craft work by members of The Friends will also be exhibited. The public can attend free of charge.

Councilwoman Named To Small Cities Panel

Councilwoman Anja Miller of Brisbane has been appointed to the League of California Small Cities Committee by League President Helen Putnam, mayor of Petaluma.

At its Annual Conference last year in San Diego, the League adopted a resolution to develop and implement a service program for small cities. The Small Cities Committee has been charged with conducting a series of regional forums to establish the needs and concerns of small communities and then develop a service program.

According to Mrs. Miller, nearly half of California's 414 cities are under 12,000 population. In San Mateo County, the smallest are Colma (587), Brisbane (3,003), Portola Valley (4,996), Woodside (5,274), Half Moon Bay (5,825), Atherton (8,175) and Hillsborough (8,753).

Boys Chorus Sets Audition

The San Francisco Boys Chorus will hold an audition for new members on June 4 at St. Francis Lutheran Church in San Francisco.

Boys between the ages of 7 and 12 with unchanged voices who would like to join this boys chorus should telephone the chorus office at 431-5450 by May 25 for information.

No previous training is required but auditionees must be able to sing one song from memory. Partial scholarships are available. About 20 boys from San Mateo County belong to the chorus.

Red Cross Seeks Help

If you can say it in more than one language, the Red Cross Language Bank needs you. It's known as the Language Bank, a service in time of disaster for people who can't handle English.

Volunteer translators are listed on a reserve bank and are contacted by telephone when a disaster situation develops. The translator doesn't leave home, he or she acts as the translator right on the spot.

Individuals interested in making their translating skills available to the San Francisco Red Cross. The Office of Volunteers wants people to help plan courses for training new volunteers.

People with experience in teaching, or leadership also are needed by the San Francisco Red Cross. The Office of Volunteers wants people to help plan courses for training new volunteers.

Active Seniors Leader Announces Retirement

Mrs. Virgel Davis, who has served eight terms as president of the Daly City Senior Citizens Club, has retired from office.

Active on the local and county levels in the area of senior citizen activities, she was appointed to the San Mateo County Commission on Aging and recently completed a two-year elected term as North County director for the San Mateo County Senior Forum.

In Daly City, Mrs. Davis is a member of the Advisory Board for Mary's Help Hospital, League of Women Voters, Veterans of Foreign Wars Auxiliary and the Action Awareness Committee.

Mrs. Davis helped in developing a committee of Cancer Dressing Volunteers from the Daly City Senior Citizens Club.

Mrs. Davis has worked on the Housing Advisory Committee, and as a result, a senior housing development has been completed in Daly City.

Her club activities have not been limited to the Daly City Senior Citizens. She was active in organizing a second club sponsored by the Daly City Recreation Department — the John Daly Senior Citizens Club. The new club now has more than 200 members.

Mrs. Davis has represented Daly City as the chairwoman for three San Mateo County Senior Forum Information Days. Her efforts include two legislative information days held in Daly City and one "Senior Day on Campus" at Skyline College.

"Perhaps her varied interest in the entire community and energetic approach to life can best be exhibited by her volunteer work with the Information and Referral Center, and her support of the senior meals program and the children's day care activities," a Recreation Department spokesman said.

Although Mrs. Davis has retired from office, she says she will remain an active member of both the Daly City Senior Citizens Club and the community.

TO TRAVEL TO NEBRASKA

Cheryl Figone (left) and Seona Connolly, senior scouts from Daly City, have been selected to participate in the Wider Opportunity scout program. Theme is "A Taste of Medicine" and is geared for girls interested in a medically-related career. The program will be at the College of St. Mary in Omaha, Nebraska, June 17 to July 1. More than 140 scouts will participate. Cheryl is a recent Westmoor High School graduate and Seona will be a senior at Mercy High School, San Francisco, this fall.

BRIGHT LIGHTS BY LLOYD JOHNSON

Finocchio's Finale Has Hawaiian Theme

FINOCCHIO'S newest production of "A Weekend Vacation to the 50th State, Hawaii," is a fantasy-filled finale. Under the direction of Mr. and Mrs. JOSEPH FINOCCHIO, choreographed and staged by GEORGE BREWSTER, costumes designed and executed by HERMAN NIEVE, with music written and directed by talented pianist BILL BULLARD. The fantastic Finocchio EVE-ETTES, costumed in sexy two-piece sarongs, and the entire cast, decked out in Hawaiian garb, are ready to delight you with "fish and poi." Four shows nightly, except Mondays...TONY LA TORRE, co owner of OLIVER'S restaurant, South San Francisco, is right in swing with the Spring season. Reservations for banquets are coming in daily for groups up to 100 persons, and graduation parties are also filling the book. Chef Julius Rische is featuring Crab Legs Saute tonight. Saturday's features will be Prime Rib and Abalone...THE TRI SOUNDS, a tremendous trio of musicians, provide the dance sounds Tuesday thru Saturday at BAYHILL LOUNGE located in the Bayhill Shopping Center (off San Bruno Avenue and one block East of Highway 280). This popular gathering spot is easy to approach and offers acres of free parking.

JAZZ JAM

It's a "hot time in the ol' town" Saturday night when the Dixieland Jazz Jam gets under way from 4 to 7 p.m. at the Prince of Wales, a British pub in San Mateo.

Lyle's Luncheon Specials Daily

Luncheon Specials are featured daily, Tuesday through Friday, at LYLE'S restaurant in South San Francisco. ## Pacifica Man Found Guilty Of Rape

A jury has convicted 30-year-old Stephen Price of rape, robbery and oral copulation stemming from an assault last Sept. 22 which he said he didn't commit.

San Mateo County Superior Court Judge Robert E. Carey, after hearing the jury's verdicts, ordered Price remanded into custody. The Pacifican had been free on bail.

Judge Carey set May 31 for sentencing. Price faces a maximum penalty of five years to life imprisonment under present law.

According to prosecutor Russell L. Moore, the 29-year-old victim had been walking along El Camino Real near the Burlingame-Millbrae city line because her car stalled at about 2 a.m.

She testified that a man in a car offered her assistance, but drove away when she refused.

Moments later, though, she said, she was attacked from behind and taken by knife-point to a nearby, closed service station.

The woman identified Price as the man who raped her, forced her to commit oral copulation and stole $8 from her purse, Moore reported.

Price, represented by attorney Dick W. Bennett of San Mateo, said he was at work at the Produce Mart near San Francisco International Airport at the time of the attack.

Defense witnesses established that Price helped unload a produce truck at 2:37 a.m.

Moore, argued, though, that it takes only five or six minutes to drive from the scene of the assault to the produce mart.

Audit of DC Day Care Unit Almost Complete

By NANCY STANCILL
Discussion of the future of the controversial Daly City Community for Children's Services should come to a head within two weeks.

The joint San Mateo County-Daly City financial audit and program review of the day care corporation is almost complete.

Daly City officials are studying the draft of the audit and review, but have declined to comment on its contents yet.

Ray Letsinger, assistant city manager, said the document should be released to DCCCS officials next week. A subcommittee of Daly City's City Council probably will hold a public meeting the following week to discuss the audit and review.

"If anything serious is found in the audit, it will jeopardize funding," Letsinger said.

The 1 1/2-year old day care organization has been under fire for about four months. Participating parents and residents have criticized the Rev. Raymond Howard, president of the DCCCS Board of Directors, for firing the former center director, placing his relatives on the board and other policies which they term dictatorial.

The controversy swirling around the center led to the joint audit and program review.

In addition, the county has not acted to renew a funding contract with the DCCCS which expired Jan. 30.

Since the day care center's inception, the county has provided $16,160 in federal revenue-sharing funds.

Don Heath, community planning director for the county Department of Health and Welfare, said further funding will depend on discussion of the audit results.

Daly City also is withholding $12,900 in eighth entitlement revenue sharing funds it granted to the center last March, upon condition that the City Council finds nothing amiss with the audit and review.

The resulting shortage of accustomed funding has led to a tentative decision by Reverend Howard and the DCCCS board to cut at least two and possibly three of the center's six staff positions.

"We will make a decision about staff cuts within the next two or three weeks," the Rev. Howard said after a recent meeting of the DCCCS board.

"We only have $18,000 to $20,000 right now and we will run out of funds during the latter part of August," he added.

He said two staff cuts would enable the center to operate at least a month more.

Reverend Howard said the anticipated cuts will not reduce the level of service to the center's 24 children "to a great extent."

He said the center's new director, Adrian Shapiro, will take up some of the slack through voluntary hours.

Reverend Howard said the board will continue its work to amend the directors' bylaws, a condition of further funding by the city.

Letsinger said that as of last week, the DCCCS had $7,331 remaining in city revenue-sharing funds and $753 from federal Housing and Community Development Act (HCDA) funds.

The assistant city manager noted that the records show a $25,000 payment from the state in child care-related funding, but there is some question whether the money can be used at the center's 350 Lowell St. location. It apparently has not yet been spent.

He said the city is checking to confirm whether the state funding was allocated for the center's planned satellite location at 101 Peoria St. Establishment of the satellite has been halted until the audit has been evaluated.

Letsinger said it is costing about $5,000 a month for the center to pay its bills.

Your California Ford Dealer has the car that took on a $20,000 German Mercedes in tests for quietness and ride.

A 1977 Ford Granada* was brought to Germany for a scientific ride comparison with a Mercedes-Benz 450 SE†. Testing was conducted by an independent German engineering firm.

Test 1: Smoothness test. The engineers drove the Granada and the Mercedes at various speeds over roads in Northern Germany, ranging from cobblestone to smooth highway. Using a sensitive electronic recorder, they measured vibration levels. Results: In three out of the four tests, there were "no major differences" between the two cars.

Test 2: Quietness test. Again, the two cars were compared over a variety of German road surfaces at speeds from 30 to 55 mph. A sound meter recorded interior decibel levels on the dBA scale. Results: In all tests the Ford Granada rode as quietly as the Mercedes-Benz.

Pacifica Trustees Scolded

By TERRY DAVENPORT
Pacifica teachers and parents had some angry words for Laguna Salada Union School District trustees last week.

Most of the 100 people who crowded the room applauded loudly when members of the audience attacked the board on behalf of district teachers. The board and the Laguna Salada Education Association — the teachers' organization — are deadlocked on the issue of teachers' wages for the 1978-79 contract.

The teachers are asking for a four per cent raise from the current average salary of $15,680, as well as binding arbitration. The board is offering a 2.8 per cent increase.

Laguna Salada teachers had planned to stage a minimum services protest last week, but cancelled it at the last minute, fearing disciplinary action by the district. The protest was halted by union negotiators when Supt. Jim Brien distributed a written agreement saying that, in return, the district would not retaliate.

Meanwhile, negotiations continue. One Pacifica resident, Pat Dondano, stood in front of a large banner proclaiming "Parents support teachers" as she read a letter to the board signed by more than 60 parents.

"We have heard for many years that there is no money available in this district. We do not feel this is a fair and complete summary and certainly not a satisfactory answer to the largest problem you as selected representatives of this community face."

"There are conflicting answers to so many questions depending on whether you are speaking to a teacher or to a district office personnel," the letter stated.

It suggested printing a copy of the district's budget in a newspaper, written in understandable language, and asked that the reserve fund be explained: "How much is there and what is it being reserved for?"

Mrs. Dondano was applauded when she referred to the "Report Card" newsletter that the district recently mailed to Pacifica residents.

"It contained a lot of misleading information. One item sounded impressive and I quote: 'Sixty per cent of any additional new money in non-categorical or non-restricted funds shall be utilized for upgrading compensation of non-management certified staff until the commitment set forth above has been fully funded.'"

"Sixty-five per cent is the minimum figure required by the state," the letter said.

Mrs. Dondano again was applauded when she said,

"Why are you so afraid of binding arbitration? Are you afraid of losing control?"

She requested a meeting next week with the board and district personnel, saying, "We would like some straight answers."

Pacifica Heights PTA President Kathy Townsley read another angry letter on behalf of parents in the organization. The letter, which has 40 signatures, said that parents are concerned about losing teachers in the coming year because of teacher resignments. It asked for a change in the formula for the student-teacher ratio.

One Linda Mar English teacher stood up to comment that she has 40 students in one eighth grade class. Another Linda Mar teacher thanked parents in the audience, remarking "I am very proud to teach in this district where we have parents like this to support us."

A man in the audience said he had computed the necessary monthly income required to afford an average Pacifica house valued at $50,000 to $60,000.

"With a minimum down payment of 10 per cent, closing costs of $7,500 and $540 monthly payments, teachers can't afford a house," he said.

A woman complained "This community gives as much to people who pick up garbage as it does to teachers. That's not meant to downgrade people who pick up garbage, but they don't take on the responsibilities that teachers do."

A man pointed out, "We're all upset with higher taxes, but in industry, a four per cent raise would be an insult."

Board Chairman Grady Hesters said board members were not supposed to make replies during the oral communications portion of the meeting, but said he would arrange a meeting with concerned parents.

A motion to approve a proposed contract extension of negotiating services by the firm of Littler, Mendelson and Fastiff from Jan. 1, 1977 through Dec. 31, 1978 was quickly amended to read "through Dec. 31, 1977." People in the audience leaped to protest when they learned the services are costing $875 per month.

"What about the teachers?" shouted one woman. Sue Anderson asked the board to clarify its priorities and said, "I, for one, would like to see a service like this taken out of this budget."

Board member Marilyn Mills expressed qualms about hiring the negotiating firm through the end of the year, but Hesters countered that a month-to-month agreement would be more costly. The amended motion passed unanimously.

The board also:
• Voted to make student accident insurance available to parents of pupils in the district for the coming school year. Rates are $6 for covering during school hours and $26 for the 24-hour premium. Benefits have been upgraded from those offered for the current school year plan.

• Thanked Kathy Townsley for heading up Pacific Heights pta fundraising efforts which resulted in a total of $6,648.50 in gifts to Pacific Heights School from June 1976 through March 1977.

• Tabled a motion that would authorize the superintendent to enact emergency measures if work stoppages are carried out by district employees before June 30.

"I'm really hoping the mediation process works... Waiting until these measures are necessary is a demonstration of our faith in the mediation process," commented Hesters.

Robbers Get Away with Keys

Two armed robbers wearing stocking masks held up the Daly City Mobil Station, 3001 Junipero Serra Blvd., about 8:50 p.m. Saturday, police report.

The pair, also wearing stockings on their hands, apparently got away with between $1,500 and $2,000 plus the keys to the business, police said.

The first suspect, described as a white male in his mid-30s with blond necklength hair and a moustache, was armed with a stiletto knife. The second suspect, described as a Latin man with a stocky build and in his 30s, carried either a .45 calibre or a 9-mm. automatic, police said.

NELL NORTON

Good morning, good cooks.

It's always a pleasure to receive a request to repeat a recipe that made such a hit with my readers. This cake is made for chocolate lovers. Not only is this a delicious cake — rich and chocolatey with chocolate-nut frosting — but it also has the added attraction of being so simple to make that you will have it in the oven in record time.

This is a large cake, as you can guess from its name, and serves a crowd.

TEXAS SHEET CAKE

- 2 cups margarine
- 1 cup water
- 4 tablespoons cocoa
- 2 cups all-purpose flour
- 2 cups sugar
- 1/2 teaspoon salt
- 2 eggs
- 1/2 cup sour cream
- 1 teaspoon baking soda

In a saucepan, combine the two cups of margarine, one cup water and four tablespoons cocoa. Bring to a boil and add the two cups flour, two cups sugar and half teaspoon salt. Mix well.

In a small mixing bowl, combine two eggs, One-half cup sour cream and one teaspoon baking soda. Beat together and then stir into the cake batter. Mix well and pour into a greased 11x18x2-inch cookie sheet.

Bake at 375 degrees for 15 to 20 minutes.

While the cake is baking, make the frosting. You will find this frosting rather thin because you have to spread it over the hot cake and it would pull and tear the cake if it were of the usual frosting consistency.

FROSTING

- 1 tablespoon margarine
- 4 tablespoons cocoa
- 8 tablespoons milk
- 1 box powdered sugar
- 1 teaspoon vanilla
- 1 cup chopped nuts

In a small saucepan, combine the one tablespoon margarine, four tablespoons cocoa and eight tablespoons milk. Bring to a boil and add one pound powdered sugar and one teaspoon vanilla. Mix well and stir in the one cup chopped nuts. Spread over hot cake.

Allow to cool and cut in squares.

Grealish Address Monday

The Memorial Day address by Rear Admiral James V. Grealish, U.S. Naval Reserve, will be delivered at 11 a.m. Monday at the Military Terrace

JAMES V. GREALISH
Memorial Day Address of Olivet Memorial Park in Colma.

This marks the ninth annual patriotic observance by California Post 234, American Legion, with past commander Joseph J. Pape presiding.

Ceremonies will be held in a circle of 50 large American flags donated by the families of deceased veterans to Mission Post 3605, VFW, whose members will post all the flags. Scouts will decorate all the graves with fluttering flags adding more color to the flowers that already adorn the graves.

Admiral Grealish is a San Francisco native. He entered the Navy in WWII. After a short interval of civilian life he was recalled for duty in the Korean and Asiatic conflicts and served as executive officer on the USS Newnan and USS Cushing. He was decorated for distinguished service in the Asiatic-Pacific theater, the Philippine Defense and Korean Service.

The USF-ROTC color guard will join a Marine Corps firing squad and bugler on the program. Floral wreaths will be laid at the base of the main flag by members of veterans organizations as soloist Paul Walti sings "My Buddy."

Wally Honeywell of Chapter 144 Disabled American Veterans will make the address of welcome; retired Col. Chang Wah Lee, past commander of Cathay Post 384, American Legion, will give the invocation.

The Pledge of Allegiance will be led by Scouts Ken Ward and Klaus See-Tho, followed by the Gettysburg Address by Philip A. Joseph.

How Memorial Day originated will be told by Rene R. Brulez, Q.M., Old Glory Post 2044, VFW, as he reads Gen. Logan's "General Order 11." The benediction will be given by ex-Marine combat photographer Jo Bush, past commander and chaplain of California Post 234, American Legion, and the final volley will be fired in a salute to the heroic dead as taps is sounded.

ROTARIANS MEET

Two recent speakers at the Rotary Club of Daly City were Hartley Appleton (left) and Milt Jines (right). Standing between is Rotarian Gary Moore, program chairman. Appleton, also a local Rotarian, spoke of his trip with his wife to Russia. He spoke of conditions there and of the various types of aircraft which were in use commercially. James, a flight manager, spoke about airport security. He stated that skyjacking began around 1961 in five incidents occurred. In 1969 there were 33 successful attempts out of 40. In 1972 the airlines started searching passengers, confiscating about 2,000 guns per month. In late 1972 an Electronic Surveillance System was put into use. The local Rotary Club, composed of business and professional men, meets each Wednesday.

Report Details Limited

Details of a San Bruno report that recommends eliminating two elected positions — city clerk and city treasurer — are available, but only to the City Council at this time, according to Gene Gallagher.

Gallagher, chairman of the Economy and Efficiency Task Force, said reports covering five city departments were approved individually throughout the year but are not ready for distribution. City Council members expressed some disappointment last week when they were handed a preliminary report by the task force — the product of a year's study.

The task force provided brief statements regarding the study of departments by subcommittees. Included were the city clerk, city treasurer, planning department, parks and recreation and police.

Religion Digest

FAMILY SABBATH SERVICES

Family Sabbath Services will be observed in the Sanctuary of Congregation B'nai Israel, 1575 Annie St., Daly City, on Friday at 8 p.m. The services will be conducted by Rabbi Ira Book.

At the conclusion of Services, an Oneg Shabbat will follow hosted by two members of the Temple Sisterhood.

Congregation B'nai Israel also announced there will be no Shabbat (Saturday) Hebrew School Classes on May 28. However, there will be regular Shabbat (Saturday morning Services) in the Temple House beginning at 10 a.m. Rabbi Ira Book will lead the services.

To be read on the Shabbat (Saturday) morning Service of May 28 will be: Parsha: "Naso."

B'NAI ISRAEL MEETING

Bernard Shain, president of Congregation B'nai Israel, 1575 Annie St., Daly City, announces the semi-annual General Membership meeting is scheduled for Tuesday, May 31, at 8 p.m. at the Temple House.

One of the highlights on the agenda will be the election of officers to serve the Synagogue for the year 1977-1978.

President, Bernard Shain, will preside and chairman will present their six-month reports.

Plans for next year's Hebrew and Sunday School will also be discussed, as well as Cantor acquisition.

NURSERY PROGRAM

Congregation B'nai Israel of 1575 Annie St., Daly City, announces the continuation of its Nursery School Program.

This program is open to all Jewish children ages two years nine months to four years of age. The Nursery offers a very creative program which includes stories, arts and crafts, music, games, puppetry, creative drama, cooking and much more.

Applications of children who would like to join the class for the Fall are being accepted.

For further information telephone 756-5430, between 10 a.m. and 3 p.m. Monday through Friday.

GARAGE SALE

Mrs. Henry (Mary) Fuhs, president, announces that the Sisterhood of Congregation B'nai Israel will hold a Garage Sale June 5 at the garage of the Synagogue Office, 590 Washington St., Daly City.

Mrs. Milton (Debby) Potak, is chairlady and states the garage sale will commence at 10 a.m.

All merchandise donated for the garage sale is tax deductible; proceeds from the sale will be ear-marked for the General Fund of the Synagogue.

COUNSELOR TRAINING PROGRAM

Only a few spaces remain in this summer's "Leadership-in-Training" program at the Brotherhood Way Jewish Community Center. Final interviews now are being conducted with teenagers who seek a meaningful summer experience learning to be camp counselors.

The "Leadership-in-Training" program is part of the Center's summer day camp, Camp Achavah. LIT's participants in daily workshops and discussion groups, while also working directly with campers and close professional supervision.

Final applications for the "Leadership-in-Training" program are now being accepted. Teenagers 15 or 16 years old can contact Andy Scharlach at the Brotherhood Way Center, 334-7474.

TRIP TO OREGON

A 10-day camping trip to Oregon is the featured attraction of the Tween Summer Safari program at the Brotherhood Way Jewish Community Center this summer.

From June 27 to July 8, youngsters from 11 to 15 will go dune buggy riding, explore the Oregon caves, see Crater Lake, and experience the beauty of the Cascade Mountains and the Oregon Coast.

Emphasis is on sharing in the enjoyment and responsibilities of group living. The trip is led by social workers and counselors.

Final registration is now being accepted.

For more information contact Andy Scharlach, teen director, Brotherhood Way Jewish Community Center, 334-7474.

SCOUT TO KANSAS

Mary Lou Kachur, Cadette Troop 1595, has been selected by the Kaw Valley Girl Scouts, Topeka, Kansas, to participate in the "Kansas Sampler" program July 9-23. She will study prehistoric and contemporary Indian culture at Haskell Indian College and the University of Kansas. About 80 girls from throughout the United States will participate. Mary Lou recently received her First Class Scout Award, and has been active in scouting for eight years. She attends Mercy High School, San Francisco, and will begin her sophomore year in the fall.

Driver Reaches for Kitten, Hits Fence

One thing apparently just led to another as Irene Ann Frias, 28, of 374 Bancroft Way, Pacifica, was driving up the Bayshore Freeway south of Ralston Avenue in Belmont Friday.

Highway Patrolman Mark Muscardini reported that when he arrived he found her car completely enveloped in chain link fence.

He said she told him she was headed north when a kitten on the front floor began running around.

This excited the dog in the rear of the car, and he also began running around.

She reached down to pick up the kitten and the next thing she knew she was wound up in fence.

Muscardini said she swerved off the road when she took her eyes off the highway and took down 20 poles and 200 feet of perimeter fence. Neither she nor her passenger, Cathy Pederson of 1085 Fiesta Drive, San Mateo, was injured.

It took an hour and a half to clear up the accident, Muscardini reported.

Daly City Police Probe Shooting Death

A 40-year-old Daly City man was found shot to death in the living room of his residence just before midnight Sunday, Daly City police report.

Police said the identity of the deceased is being withheld pending notification of next of kin.

Daly City police said San Francisco police had been called to assist Sandra Weary, 592 Scherwin Ave., gain entry into her residence. The two San Francisco policemen found the dead man's body in the living room.

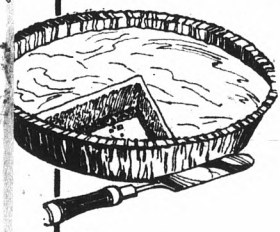

Police said the dead man apparently was Miss Weary's roommate. They said he died from a single gunshot wound to the head.

Officer Duane Bolton and Det. Bob Vogt are investigating the matter. There were no immediate leads as to a possible motive or possible suspects, the police said.

Local Politicians Tired Of Being Scapegoat

By RICK SULLIVAN
A distinct resentment has begun to attack county elected officials.

With increasing regularity, local politicians—those most accessible to angry, confused, overtaxed voters—are complaining that they have become the scapegoats for state and federal elected representatives.

Each year around budget season the locals have traditionally grumbled, principally among themselves, that they will be forced to heap more taxes on their already overburdened constituents to fund programs which are mandated by the state and federal governments and over which they have little or no control.

This year, at a time when reassessment of homes has jumped an average of 25 per cent and indignant homeowners are burning their assessment notices in protest, the grumbling has turned to shouting.

The locals, especially those who face re-election next year, are clearly rattled. They now want to "yell it from the rooftops" that it's just not totally their fault that they are taxing people out of their homes.

The public, the locals believe, must somehow be made to understand that no longer do city councils and county boards of supervisors have total control over the expenditure of taxpayer dollars, and that they are now only "frontmen" for representatives of higher levels of government.

Last month, the San Mateo County Board of Supervisors voted to schedule three public information budget meetings to acquaint taxpayers with the mechanics of budget preparation and to emphasize the limits to which the board can control the money it raises and spends.

It has been pointed out that the county board can make decisions which affect only about 50 per cent of its budget. The rest is controlled directly by state and federal agencies as a result of legislation passed at the respective governmental levels.

Last week, Supervisor Edward Bacciocco vehemently decried the erosion of local autonomy. He called on his colleagues to "seriously consider refusing to either collect local taxes or pay the state and federal governments for their programs which are forcibly inserted into the county budget."

In a memorandum to the board, Bacciocco stated, "For too long have the supervisors taken the rap for the property tax when our rate (20 per cent of the total tax bill) is the lowest in the Bay Area (except for Solano County). No longer will we be the convenient scapegoats while citizens avert their gaze from Sacramento where property tax law is enacted and enforced."

"For too long have the supervisors accepted the reprimands for a tax rate dictated by a budget crammed with state and federal programs amounting to approximately $25 million — one-half of the county property tax budget. Although the county is enjoined from exercising jurisdiction over these programs, we must collect property taxes from citizens as agents of the state."

Bacciocco attached to his memorandum a list of county programs prepared by County Manager David

Nichols which are mandated to be operated.

They include:
• Medical, which will cost the county $2.1 million next year.
• Adult welfare, which will cost the county $3.4 million next year.
• Aid to families with dependent children, of which the county's share will be $3.8 million next year.

• Boarding homes and institutions and care of court wards, which will cost the county $2.8 million.

• Medically indigent patients. The cost to provide medical care for illegal aliens alone is expected to be $800,000 next year.

"Unless state and federal governments assume financial responsibility for these programs," Nichols said in his report, "other optional county programs which provide vital services to the citizens of San Mateo and other counties will have to be severely reduced or eliminated."

In an emotional, metaphor-ridden statement,

Bacciocco called on his fellow supervisors to put a stop to the payment of "blood money" to the state and federal governments. If such a move is not made, he predicted that the governments will continue to pull the strings of our budget . . . and continue to encroach in other areas over which we should have control.

"I'm tired of state and federal legislators hiding behind the counties for money they vote to spend, while we are the ones who are the booted jackals."

Supervisor William Royer tempered his colleague's anger. He said he shared his frustration, but advised that it might be more judicious to work within the system for change rather than stage a radical protest.

Royer said the County Supervisors Association of California (CSAC) has been working diligently with state representatives for tax relief legislation. He said three bills are in the hopper.

CSAC, Royer added, also is preparing a suit to challenge the constitutionality of the state practice of not reimbursing counties for the cost of operating programs that are mandated by them.

If a tax reform bill to provide for county reimbursement fails to pass the legislature this year, Royer said, CSAC is prepared to push the suit.

Bacciocco was convinced that it might be better to allow CSAC to handle the problem.

Colleges

'Combine' For Summer

Wherever you live or work in the Bay Area, it has never been easier to register for a summer session college course.

The four local campuses of the California State University and Colleges — San Jose State University, San Francisco State University, California State University, Hayward and Sonoma State College — have organized their resources for the first time to meet more fully the needs of the Bay Area community.

The four Offices of Continuing Education of these schools began combining forces last fall in a series of meetings to better their Bay Area outreach to those already enrolled in State University and College programs and to those considering a return to school.

As a result of those meetings, the campuses have joined their 1977 summer programs under the theme, "Begin Continuing," aimed at increasing public awareness of the benefits of the joint relationship of the four schools.

The four campuses also have their own 24-hour hotline numbers to request free bulletins of summer session courses. Bulletins will be mailed within a week.

The four campuses now have one central post office box: Bay Area Summer Sessions, P.O. Box 27396, San Francisco, CA 94127. Messages sent to this address are forwarded to the appropriate school.

Notice

Messages concerning distribution or delivery of the North County Post should be telephoned between 8:30 a.m. and 5:30 p.m. (568-1234) or sent by writing to the North County Post, 328 W. Angus Ave., San Bruno, Ca. 94066.

DC Suspect Jailed On Robbery Charge

A 33-year-old San Francisco man was taken off a SamTrans bus in Daly City and charged by police with the robbery of the St. Francis Square Fotomat booth attendant Monday.

Police said Michael Ramirez, 723 Bacon St., San Francisco, was taken into custody by Officer Richard Miller a short time after the robbery.

A man, at 11:30 a.m., had approached a lone female employee in the Fotomat booth, simulated a weapon — which he claimed to be a 38 caliber revolver — demanded and received all the money in the booth, according to the authorities.

The man then fled on foot. Officer Miller learned that the man had boarded a SamTrans bus enroute to the BART station. Miller followed the bus route. At Junipero Serra and John Daly boulevards, Miller boarded the bus and arrested Ramirez, who was seated at the rear, police said.

Help Wanted

Volunteers have been requested for a variety of services ranging from office work to working with disturbed children.

MENTAL HEALTH ASSOCIATION — Assistance in providing a supportive setting for those with mental or emotional problems is needed during the 1 to 5 p.m. Saturday social rehabilitation program at the Friendship Center in Belmont.

PLANNED PARENTHOOD — Counselors, clinicians and receptionists are needed. An interview is required prior to the orientation and training scheduled for June 1, 2, 8 and 9 in the mornings.

LOS PRADOS / AUTISTIC PROGRAM — Help needed with severely disturbed and autistic persons 3 to 21 years of age, especially with summer swim program.

CAPTURE — Persons for folding brochures, mailing and light typing in San Mateo office of countywide citizens' crime prevention program.

PENINSULA YMCA — Persons to care for up to five toddlers and infants while parents are in class on Tuesdays or Thursdays from 3:45 to 5:15 p.m.

Requests for help are made through the Volunteer Bureau/Voluntary Action Center of San Mateo County, whose offices are in Burlingame, Redwood City and Daly City. For more information about these and other volunteer opportunities, contact the Volunteer Bureau, 119 Primrose Road, in Burlingame, Monday through Friday from 9 a.m. to 5 p.m. A project of the Assistance League of San Mateo County.

Good Prospects For Quake Bill

A bill introduced by U.S. Sen. Alan Cranston to step up research over the next three years on how to predict earthquakes and reduce the loss of life and property is expected to soon receive the approval of the House of Representatives and go to President Carter for his signature.

The measure — the Earthquake Hazards Reduction Act — already has been passed unanimously by the U.S. Senate. "The bill authorizes the appropriation of $205 million over the next three years to 'push rapidly ahead on research that should one day enable us to predict accurately when and where an earthquake will occur, and give us time to take steps to save lives and protect property as much as possible," Cranston said.

A good deal of the money would be spent in San Mateo County, the senator's office indicated, because a lot of the instrumentation research will be done by the U.S. Geological Survey in Menlo Park.

Funds also would be used for additional research on how to improve the design and construction of buildings, bridges, dams and other structures in order to make them more resistant to earthquakes.

The bill contains an "implementation" clause to make sure that the information resulting from the study gets into the hands of the appropriate state, county and local officials and is not filed and forgotten.

Within six months after the bill becomes law, as expected, the President would be expected to recommend ways to improve community preparedness for earthquakes through such things as better land-use planning and improved construction practices, Cranston said.

Aid to Victims Funding

An aid program for victims and witnesses of crime was recommended for a second-year federal grant last week by the Criminal Justice Council of San Mateo County.

The action seeks release of $103,560 in federal funds and $5,573 in state funds to match county funds of $30,690 to continue the program from July 1 to June 30, 1978.

Among services for victims of crime are emergency transportation, household assistance, child care, interpreting and translating, contacting relatives and employer, recovery of welfare benefits and counseling.

Victims also are assisted in preparing state claims for medical expenses and loss of income resulting from injuries suffered in a crime.

Witnesses receive instructions in advance of a service of a subpoena, directions for reaching court, protection from exposure to the accused person, reception services, escort and assistance in securing witness fees.

The program, under the auspices of the county's Probation Department, is staffed mostly by volunteers, although the paid staff includes a program director, two assistant directors, one secretary and two clerk-typists.

Dist. Atty. Keith C. Sorenson, a criminal justice council member, said that the program has assisted thousands of witnesses and hundreds of victims since its inception in 1976.

The project has secured waiting rooms for witnesses at each of the county's three municipal court branches.

In its second funded year, the program is expected to stabilize its operations, increase its reach and accessibility, and increase the number of volunteers who provide services, according to Criminal Justice Council Director Anne Taylor.

The program also hopes to help criminal justice agencies to give more consideration and personal attention to victims and witnesses.

Another goal is to encourage victims and witnesses to develop "a more positive attitude toward the criminal justice system and to cooperate more fully with police and the district attorney," according to Ms. Taylor.

Deployed

Marine Corporal Charles E. Fritz, whose wife Judith is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Robert Hudson of Shelter Cove, Half Moon Bay, is currently on an extended deployment to the Marine Corps Air Station (MCAS), Kaneohe Bay, Hawaii. He is serving as a member of the 2d Light Anti-Aircraft Missile (LAAM) Battalion.

SSF Residents Protest Garbage Collection Policy

South San Francisco residents are pleading with the city to trash an ordinance that requires them to drag their garbage can to the curb for scavenger company pick-up service.

Several residents asked the City Council last week to reconsider the recently adopted policy. The council also has received a petition signed by about 50 residents. City staff members say they have received numerous complaints about the mandatory curbside service.

Like some other San Mateo County cities, the South San Francisco City Council recently instituted mandatory service requiring every resident to pay for the scavenger company service, whether or not they use it. At the same time, it initiated a curbside policy, reportedly a cost-saving measure — scavengers can pick up more cans in less time.

However, many residents now are saying that the local scavenger company employees are strong enough to carry out the trash cans and that cans left at the curbside overnight, and sometimes all day, are unsightly.

One man even warned the council that a resident who injures himself hauling out his trash might sue the city.

The city has offered to establish a review board to consider application by individual South San Franciscans asking for exemptions from curbside service requirements.

But, residents aren't entirely satisfied with that idea.

Mrs. Cecilia Murphy said she may be ill one day and be unable to drag her own garbage can from her yard to the front yard. It's not feasible, she said, for every resident to call the scavenger company every time one is unable for one reason or another to haul a can to the curb.

Scavenger company collectors, she said, are paid adequately and are physically suited for that task.

"Why do we have to be sweet and loveable to them?" she asked.

The company workers, she said, have shown no regard for "homeowners' property."

"They are not even treating the garbage cans with respect," she said. Cans are thrown about and damaged, she asserted.

City Manager Walter Birkelo recommended that the council review the compulsory participation requirement — including the curbside service provisions — of the new ordinance and decide what to do.

Birkelo pointed out that the scavenger company already has exempted some persons from the curbside requirement in cases where there is physical hardship.

The compulsory service requirement — in which every resident must pay for scavenger service, whether they generate garbage or not — was meant to alleviate illegal dumping and the accumulation of debris, Birkelo said.

San Bruno Teachers' Negotiations Proceed

More than 100 teachers carrying picket signs paraded in front of the San Bruno Park school district office last Thursday afternoon to protest what they believe are slow negotiations for a 1976-77 contract.

At the same time, the San Bruno Education Association — a California Teachers Association affiliate — planned to distribute leaflets Saturday morning at Bayhill Shopping Center explaining its view of the contract talks that have been going on since February.

The SBEA — with 144 members — has been designated the exclusive bargaining agent for the San Bruno district's teachers.

All 189 of the district's teachers have been working this year without a current contract. Both the SBEA and the district are hoping that the first year of collective bargaining negotiations will produce a two year contract covering 1976-77 and 1977-78.

Teachers walked back and forth on Jenevein Avenue in front of the district office for several hours Thursday afternoon while another negotiating session was being held inside.

They waved signs reading, "Stop Stalling," "Contract Now," and "We're tired of waiting," at passing cars in the residential neighborhood.

SBEA President Elaine O'Neill said the teachers have been gathering at the district office to greet their negotiating team after the sessions and obtain updated reports of the negotiating activity.

Pending the approval of the Bayhill Shopping Center management, the teachers planned to distribute flyers from 10 a.m. to noon Saturday. If permission was not obtained, leaflets will be distributed from the sidewalk just outside the center.

Teachers also planned to set up pickets prior to the meeting of the Board of Trustees Monday evening at the district office.

"We want to inform the public that our contract negotiations are going very, very slowly," Ms. O'Neill said.

Talks are stalled over many issues, not just a salary settlement, she said.

However, the teachers are asking for a 6 per cent

Marge Calvin To Receive Pin

Mrs. Marge Calvin, who will receive a 35-year membership pin at the event, will keynote the Daly City Girl Scout Association's annual leadership recognition luncheon, this year themed "On My Honor, I Will Try", set for Thursday at La Concha restaurant, Daly City.

Jane Stewart will be guest musician; the invocation will be given by Sr. Doreen Healy, P.B.V.M. of St. Andrews. Mrs. Mary Ann Dale will chair the celebration.

Reservations with a choice of a Mexican plate, salad plate or small steak, all at $4 each, are being accepted by Mrs. Caroline Futrell, 51 Baldwin Ave., Daly City. Year pin requests should be directed to Mrs. Roz Morino, 1711 Sweetwood Dr., Colma.

Adults will receive year pins of five-year intervals. Senior Girl Scouts eligible for 10-year pins (Juniors in high school if members from Brownie second grade) may elect to receive their pins from the adult association, by advising Mrs. Morino.

The keynote speaker, Mrs. Calvin, has served in many leadership capacities over the years and is a long-time Daly City resident. Her pin will be presented to her by Mrs. Hilda Heagney who has been a registered Girl Scout for 34 years.

Confirmation exercises of Congregation Beth Israel-Judea will be held at Sabbath Services June 3, at 8 p.m. at the temple on Brotherhood Way, San Francisco.

Being confirmed are: Libby Adler, Deborah Apple, Michael Block, Wendy Cohen, Dany Gruen, Steven Hanak, John Hardstone, Jeffrey Lang, Scott Levene, Michelle Mentz, Gerald Miller, Julie Miller, Kimberly Miller, Susan Molton, Tamra Morris, Barry Orloff, Sheryl Platt, Eric Raphael, Michael Rubin, Larry Rudee, Karen Schwarzbach, Mark Shelton, Michael Silverman and Lisa Wills.

Rabbi Herbert Morris and Cantor Henry Greenberg will conduct the confirmation service. Also participating in the service will be Edith B. Hylton, president of the congregation; Marlene Bauer and Polly Owen, Sisterhood vice presidents; Gerhard Lowenthal, principal of the religious school; Trude Fineman, education chairman and Dina Steinberg, confirmation instructor.

The parents of the confirmands will host a reception following the service.

Bay Area Environmental Discussion

The Association of Bay Area Governments has scheduled several roundtable discussions on the Environmental Management Plan that is being prepared for the Bay Area.

The local meeting will be at the Burlingame City library on May 26 at 8 p.m.; 480 Primrose in Burlingame.

Those who attend will have a chance to meet members of the task force who must prepare the plan and will have the opportunity to contribute ideas.

For further information, call 841-9730.

Miss Daly City Scores A First

Amelia Adams became the first black woman ever to win the title of Miss Daly City in the 23rd annual Chamber of Commerce pageant Thursday.

Miss Adams, an 18-year-old student at Skyline College, is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Arnold J. Adams of 340 Lake Merced Boulevard.

"These are the two most beautiful women in the world," declared Adams, as he hugged his daughter and wife.

Miss Adams, who works part-time at The Fashion in Westlake Shopping Center, plans a fashion merchandising career. She is a graduate of Westmoor High School.

She was awarded a $250 cash prize and other gifts by the Greater Daly City Chamber of Commerce. Mayor Albert Teglia did the crowning honors.

First runnerup in the pageant was Vera Kische, an 18-year-old student at El Camino High in South San Francisco. She is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. John Kische, who reside at 38 Brighton Court, Daly City.

Second runnerup and Miss Congeniality award winner was Tina Grasso. Miss Grasso is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. James Grasso. The family resides at 784 Clarinada Ave.

Miss Grasso is employed by Pyramid Realty. Miss Adams succeeds Diane Albee as queen.

Miss Albee tearfully told the gathering that her year as Miss Daly City "was the most wonderful and exciting experience of my life."

Additional Police Officers Win Support

Daly City taxpayers last week quibbled over a $200 travel and meeting allowance in the city treasurer's budget request, but appeared to wholeheartedly endorse a $320,094 proposal to provide 17 additional police personnel.

About 20 residents showed up for a three-hour Daly City Council study session on the proposed $14,712,640 municipal budget for 1977-78.

The council discussed the budget proposals from three city departments in the study session.

The proposed budget suggests a tax rate of $1.75 per $100 of assessed valuation — 24 cents lower than the present $1.99 rate.

Although the council went over the budget from City Treasurer Anthony Zidich, City Clerk Anna Ohlendorf and Police Chief David Hansen with equal care, it was clearly the police budget that excited the most public reaction and support.

There were few questions asked about Mrs. Ohlendorf's $88,550 operating budget request and a second, $16,000 request for election expenses.

There was a suggestion that bulk mail rates be used as much as possible. Mrs. Ohlendorf replied that they are used whenever practical.

Moving on to Zidich, a resident asked whether it is really necessary to provide $230 for membership, dues and publications for the city treasurer. And how about that $290 for travel and meetings?

Zidich, whose total request was a modest $10,610, said he had only used $60 for travel and meetings during the current year.

City Manager David Rowe replied that it is customary to pay a department head's membership fees in his primary professional organization.

Then, as the cost-conscious audience was primed for more close scrutiny of minor expenses, Chief Hansen took the floor.

He requested that the council consider granting his request for 17 additional police officers during fiscal year 1977-78 at a cost of $320,094.

"I fully realize the tremendous cost to add 17 officers and I'm sorry about that," Hansen said flatly.

The police chief said his was not an inflated request. "I need 17 officers. If you offered me 18, I would respectfully decline," he told the council and the audience.

Rowe explained to the council that he had recommended only eight new police positions, for a budget proposal of $2,003,170, over the current year's $1,853,338 level.

Hansen presented diagrams and statistics, explaining that the city needs more policemen in the streets "to help us to help you."

And, he appeared to win over the crime-conscious audience.

"I'm up here with mixed feelings," said Harold Calder, president of the Crocker Neighborhood Association and a newly formed taxpayers' group. "I want the tax rate to stay as low as possible, but I want police protection as high as possible."

"The Mission Merchants fully support the chief's request," said George Smith, representing that group. "I can't tell you how strongly we need 17 policemen."

William Behnken of the Bayshore Homeowners told councilmen, "You should give serious consideration to the chief's suggestion. Maybe you can cut recreation and beautification areas instead."

Pastor Baffled Vandals Continue to Assault Bruno Church

By JANET PARKER

A San Bruno church with a sweeping view of the Bay Area has been forced to screen windows and barricade doors in recent months in a fight against malicious vandalism.

Since September, the congregation of St. Thomas Lutheran Church has seen its hill-top church transformed into something short of a fortress.

And, says Pastor David Peyer, senior citizens of the church have been so alarmed by the frequent vandalism that they are afraid to attend their own church for functions at night. Instead, women's groups and Bible study meetings are being conducted in church members' homes.

"Theft is not the goal," said Peyer of the assault on his church. "It's just plain destruction of property."

Peyer said he and the church's Board of Directors are frustrated with, and tired of, the repeated abuse upon their church situated above Interstate 280 at the end of a private road leading to Crestmoor High School.

The list of senseless offenses, Peyer said, is steadily growing.

Two large windows on the west side of the church family room have been shattered, stained glass windows on the north side have been pelted with rocks and broken, and five stained glass windows over the south entrance have been smashed, spraying glass and dirt into the church worship area.

And, someone shoved a long pole or stick into the pastor's office mail slot, knocking everything on his desk — including a typewriter and telephone — to the floor.

His own car — parked in front of the church from 7:30-9:30 a.m. one day — was reduced to a $35 pile of junk. Vandals pounded the roof in and shattered every window with rocks the size of volleyballs, Peyer said.

Heavy metal chains strung between poles at two different locations to keep out four-wheel traffic have been cut and stolen, one only a week after it was installed.

Most disturbing to Peyer and his congregation was the destruction of a living memorial. The family of a senior citizen who had died had asked that instead of cut flowers, friends donate money for a living memorial of juniper trees. With the $150 that was received, Peyer said, more than 20 small evergreen trees were planted around the church property.

Peyer arrived at the church one morning shortly after the trees had been planted to find that all but five had been uprooted and thrown about the property, some a half-mile away. The pastor and some of the church families are trying to revive the trees, but most are dying or are already destroyed.

"That was the most

A Linear Pursuit

A 27-year-old employee of the Stanford Linear Accelerator was arrested on a variety of charges early Friday following a wild 70-mile-an-hour chase through the Accelerator grounds after he allegedly attempted to run down a Menlo Park police officer.

Booked at the county jail in Redwood City on charges of assault with a deadly weapon on a police officer, resisting arrest, hit-and-run driving and reckless driving was Kenneth Wayne Newman of Fremont.

The strange chase began after Officer William L. Frank stopped Newman on Maybrown Lane at 8:40 a.m. for allegedly speeding 54 miles an hour in a 25-mile zone.

As the astonished officers looked on, they said Newman took off, driving his van over 42 feet of ivy on the side of the road.

CHURCH UNDER ASSAULT

The Rev. David Peyer holds Bruno. He is at a complete loss to uprooted memorial trees in front explain why the church is being of his beleaguered church in San vandalized.

upsetting thing to me,"

Peyer said, looking at the remaining, scrawny plants. A constant problem, Peyer said, are motorcyclists who drive over the property "at will," creating bike trails and destroying ground cover — including ice plant the church members planted.

And, Peyer is always finding the church parking lot covered with broken glass — a remnant of a weekend party on the property.

Police Officer Frank Cook, who has been keeping in touch with the church's vandalism problem, said the attacks have been occurring as long as the church has been on the hill — about eight years. Once, he said, vandals broke into the church just to burn an American flag.

Peyer pointed out that vandalism has been most frequent during the school year. Students have created a shortcut to and from Crestmoor High School through the brush and trees on the church property and adjacent state-owned property.

So far, no one has been arrested by police in the act of vandalism at the church site, according to Cook, who has been advising the church on how to handle the repeated vandalism.

But Peyer said, there's only so much the small congregation of about 50 families can afford. He has sent a letter to his own parishioners and nearby Courtland Drive residents explaining the problem. Letters also have been sent to the Crestmoor High School principal and student body president.

"We have decided there's no sense in declaring a war on them, because we'll lose if we do," Peyer said. "We just can't be here 24 hours a day."

"It's a total disregard for it being a church," Cook said. Although school officials have been told of the problem in the past and are aware of the vandalism, they "can't lead the kids by the hand," Cook said. "The well-traveled roadway makes it a natural target of vandals. The trouble with most crime prevention, he said, is that it's an attempt to alleviate the problem 'after-the-fact.'"

"The church is not about to move," he said. "So, we've got to do the next best thing."

He's suggested "low key" anti-vandalism efforts — things like high intensity lighting on the roof and window plating that's stronger than plexiglass.

But, Peyer noted, all those improvements are costly for the church.

They've already spent $1,000 in security improvements and the type of window plating recommended by the police costs $7 a square foot.

Cook, however, says only a fence of triple strength barbed wire will keep out intruders entirely — and he's certainly not recommending that for a church. "There are things that can be done," Cook said. "But it gets to the point it's no longer a church and it becomes a fortress."

School officials say they have had no contact with the church this year concerning vandalism. Assistant Principal Carl Rydingsword said he would welcome discussions with Pastor Peyer if it might help.

Last Wednesday, the Crestmoor High School student council met and members were reportedly sympathetic with the church's plight.

President Michael Wenschank said the council voted to donate trees to St. Thomas Lutheran Church as a "small token of sympathy" replacing the destroyed living memorial. And, the students have invited Pastor Peyer to meet with the campus Better Relations Committee on Tuesday.

"We take it that he is in effect blaming Crestmoor students," Wenschank said. "Yes, Crestmoor students might be doing some of it but they aren't responsible for all of it."

"It's a handful of Crestmoor students who might have done the damage," he said.

Millbrae Suffers 'Flood' Problems

Although there hasn't been any rainfall to speak of in California for at least the past year, Millbrae is suffering "flooding" this week.

Millbrae residents, puzzled over notices received early this week regarding water allocation, have swamped the water department office with visits and telephone calls in hopes of getting some answers.

"We've received about 75 to 100 telephone calls each day this week from people with questions about the notices we mailed Friday and Monday," said Thelma Hubley, accounting supervisor in charge of finances and utilities, "and we're answering their questions."

The confusion, she points out, stems from the last two lines on the notices. Those lines indicate 1977 water usage in Millbrae.

The alarm arises from the fact that allocations in the second column indicating 1977 water allowances under the city's mandatory 25 per cent reduction are often lower than the city will require.

In fact, Mrs. Hubley points out to callers and visitors, "just ignore the last two lines. They have no bearing on actual water allocation."

Millbrae adopted its rationing ordinance — calling for a 25 per cent reduction on each customer's bill based on last year's usage — on April 26.

However, the minimum two-month allocation to be enforced by the city will be ten 100 cubic feet units. Each cubic unit contains 750 gallons of water.

"There has been an intense effort in Millbrae with respect to water conservation," she added. "In fact, a majority of the residents already are in compliance with the city's rationing ordinance. I'd say 95 per cent of our people are working very hard at it."

City Administrator Lee Horner has indicated Millbrae residents decreased their consumption 25 per cent from April 9 to May 9, compared to the same period the previous year.

Mrs. Hubley said some very real problems with the allocation system exist in two primary areas: New homes built last year, and cases where families have moved within the past year.

"New homes built last year did not receive the proper allocation, and there are about 100 of them involved. Also, a lot of people who moved from one home to another last year may have received an improper allocation. There will be some necessary adjustments."

Court Delay for Boat Builder

Dennis O'Leary, who represented himself, told San Mateo County Superior Court Judge William Lanam that the boat is in his backyard, concealed from view by tall trees.

He said that several boats have and are being built on private property in the El Granada area. O'Leary's home is two blocks from Pillar Point Harbor.

Deputy Dist. Atty. Michael McCracken said he agreed that perhaps the area should be rezoned to allow boat construction and storage, but that the present zoning forbids it.

O'Leary said he has completed the hull, cabin, fuel and water tanks, and is about 75 per cent finished. He said he would need 18 more months to complete the construction.

Judge Lanam asked McCracken if it might be appropriate to delay a decision on the O'Leary boat case until the county adopts an ordinance governing storage and parking of recreational vehicles.

McCracken said that the difference between the so-called "RVs" and boats such as O'Leary's is building is that the "RVs" are mobile.

But nonetheless, he told

Judge Lanam, he'll consider delaying enforcement of the alleged O'Leary zoning violation until an appropriate ordinance is adopted "if it's not stretching enforcement of the code too far."

The deputy district attorney said that he "sympathized with the problem, but we also have the problem of complaining neighbors who have the right to have the zoning ordinance code enforced."

McCracken said that the Planning Department does not seek out possible violations of zoning ordinances, but responds to citizen complaints.

O'Leary suggested that perhaps the complaints focused on two boats which had been parked on an adjacent lot for an unspecified period of time.
